BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PROFESSOR ALBERT A MICHELSON (Chicago university), Nobel prize winner, greatest living physicist, performed experiments at Pasadena which has findings as to the speed of light. The speed inconceivable to you is 186,284 miles a second. Why bother about a few miles more or less like that? The matter is important to science.

Outside the so-called "outside universe" is 1,000,000 light years away from our little earth which is the center of a cosmic city called the Milky Way. One million light years means that light can travel in a million years.

• • •

At that distance a difference in speed of one mile to the second would mean a difference of 31,536,000 miles, which is enough of a difference, astronomically.

• • •

Some day a more highly developed people will be able to think in trillions and billions of miles, as they think in dimensions, may want to travel to a star far away that other universe. We may all go there some day. In my Father's house are many mansions."

• • •

GOVERNOR SMITH is entitled to credit for keeping his nerves under control, speaking at Oklahoma City on Thursday. The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, who has attacked Governor Smith from his pulpit, sent on the plat form there to Governor Smith and greeted the head of the Oklahoma Ku Klux Klan, whom Governor Smith was to attack that evening.

• • •

THE audience expected the clergyman or the Ku Klux Klan chief to interrupt and ask questions. Two Oklahomans made welcoming speeches, one of them, Governor John C. Walton of Oklahoma, formerly a lecturer for the Klan. Those that thought they detected a slight nervousness in the governor's radio talk need not be surprised.

VERY old men give various recipes for long life. Some urge moderation in everything—eating, drinking, sex. Others say: "Don't worry." Luigi Cornaro lived to be a hundred, theory and demonstrated it by living past 100, after having been given up by doctors as a young man. Read his life.

ZORO AGHA, aged 157, oldest man in Turkey, offers a suggestion to the new ruler. "I don't smoke. I don't drink. I married four wives." He considers four wives a part of his general abstention.

• • •

NEW condition worry poor old Mr. Ataturk. Ismail Pasha, the new ruler, compels him to cut a mustache he had heard that have been growing for more than a century. Three of his wives have died, two of old age. He has their one left, rather weak, and Ismail Pasha will not let him have more than one. Turkey is going to the dogs, and he fears he will not live much longer.

• • •

B. C. FORBES quotes a clergyman who thinks it is disgraceful to emphasize the full dinner pail and general prosperity in a political campaign. Our minister should be an loftier things. Possibly, but it's hard to keep the mind on lofty things when you're hungry.

• • •

ALL agree that government should guarantee life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Pursuing happiness in this age without money, is like entering a marathon race with a ball and chain fastened to your leg.

• • •

GOVERNMENTS are established first to protect the people, second to make them happy. Therefore, prohibition is the big issue in every campaign. There are mixed questions in plenty, of which one religion, should be kept out of every campaign. But the big issue is PROSPERITY, the full dinner pail plus the full dinner pail. If Democrats can convince the people that they will increase prosperity, the Democrats will go. If not, they will not. Not very lofty, perhaps, but it counts.

• • •

"MEN have died, and worms have eaten them, but not for love." Two Ferari circus clowns 61 years old, tried to commit jumping from a roof 150 feet high. He and his wife had lived together in the circus, earned a living. But she ran away with another lover.

• • •

BEFORE he jumped, however, Ferari had lost his job as a clown. A suicide would have cured nothing about that. Shakespeare was right. Worms really get men dead for love. But with women love is back of nearly all suicides. Men die for money, as they live for money. Women live and die for love. They are less practical.

PROTECT CITY'S GAS

Cleveland Gets Injunctions to Keep Supply Pending Rate Fight

Cleveland, Sept. 22—The city of Cleveland today holds at least a temporary victory as it sought for lower gas rates.

The East Ohio Gas Co. several days ago threatened to shut off the city's gas supply Sept. 26 as a result of the action of city officials in setting up a new scale of rates.

Two injunction suits were filed one by the city and one by Attorney General Edward C. Turner to restrain such action. Common Pleas Judge Alva Pearson allowed both injunctions and ordered the company to continue to supply gas after a preliminary hearing late yesterday. Hearing on the petition for a permanent injunction is to be held later. In the meantime, the present gas rates are to remain in effect.

Service Rewarded

Martel Woman Who Has Been Substitute Mail Carrier on 25-Mile Route Five Years, Gets Permanent Appointment

MRS. CHARLES F. TREFZ

WITH receipt of formal notice of her appointment yesterday, Mrs. Charles F. Trefz, of Martel, gained the distinction of being the only officially commissioned woman mail carrier in this section of the country and one of the few in the entire United States.

The work will not be new to Mrs. Trefz, for she has performed the duties as a substitute for the last five years, taking the place of her husband when he became incapacitated through illness.

Now, with her credentials duly delivered, she holds the title as well as the responsibility of doing the work. And it is a title thoroughly deserved according to reports from residents of Martel and vicinity where her rural route is located.

Maintains Household

Since taking over the work of the mail route five years ago, Mrs. Trefz has maintained her household and given her son Carl, now 18, an education in the Martel High school. For two years she sorted the mail and delivered it while her husband was able to drive the car used for covering the route but the last three years she has handled all of the work of substitute carrier, her husband having been totally disabled during that time.

Mr. Trefz suffered an attack of influenza five years ago and was almost completely recovered when he fell victim to a serious relapse as the result of attempting to repair his automobile, the repairs requiring him to be under his car—for some time. Since the relapse he has been helpless.

Wading snow, mud and water and braving the storms, Mrs. Trefz has never missed a day on her 25 miles of route during the years that she accompanied her husband and

Junk Man Enters Wrong Church and Now Marion Edifice Has No Furnace

Instructed To Go to Lutheran Church He Gets into United Brethren Building by Mistake and Removes Perfectly Good Heating Plant

The Truck Drivers' Mistake," was enacted on South Prospect st. recently. The plot was laid in Emanuel's Lutheran church and the scene in the United Brethren church.

It happened that furnaces in both churches were torn down about the same time with a view to making repairs before the arrival of cold weather. Officials of the Lutheran church decided that an entire new furnace was needed. A junk company was notified to cart away the old furnace.

Decide on Repairs

Officials of the United Brethren church, however, decided that only a few repairs were necessary to put their furnace in shape for the winter.

The truck driver from the junk company had been instructed to go to the third church south of Church st. on Prospect st. Due to a misunderstanding in instructions he went to the third church south of Center st., which was the United Brethren church. Driving into the alley along the church he entered the basement by a side door as he had been instructed to do and found the furnace torn down.

Uses Sledge Hammer

Not knowing that he was in the wrong church he proceeded to make small pieces out of the furnace, cutting with lusty blows from a sledge hammer. The furnace was soon loaded and carted away to the junk yard.

When officials of the church found their furnace missing they started an investigation and traced it to the junk yard.

The proprietor of the junk yard, recognizing how easily the mistake could be made instructed the church officials to replace the destroyed parts and send him the bill.

50 CARS TAGGED ON W. CENTER ST.

Drivers Appear in Court for Instructions on Parking Rules

Approximately 50 machines were tagged when their drivers violated the parking ordinance on West Center st., yesterday, according to a report at police headquarters today.

Drivers of the tagged machines were ordered to appear in municipal court within 24 hours but no action was taken against them for the violations, it was learned today. An explanation of the provisions of the ordinance was made to them and they were released.

The 50 machines tagged by local police yesterday were parked on an angle to the curb. The ordinance provides for the parking on West Center st., west of Oak st. parallel to the curb.

The ordinance is believed to have been misinterpreted because of the re-widening of the street. From Oak st. east to High st. the ordinance provides for angle parking. This ordinance was passed by city council when the street west of Oak st. was not as wide as the street in the uptown district. Following the completion of work on part of the street, west of Oak st. the street is now as wide as the section in the uptown district.

SAYS BUSINESS AND AGRICULTURE CLOSER

"An Upward Trend of Rural Prosperity" Forecast by Fess

Zanesville, Sept. 22—Business and agriculture are closer together today than ever before, said U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess who delivered the principal address today at a celebration of the opening of the Chanderssville rd., at Chandersville near here, today.

Reviewing the farm situation of the past few years, Fess pointed out that there will be "an upward trend of rural prosperity." He attributed this to the modern use of business methods in solving the various problems facing agricultural readjustment.

"Today we are in the longest period of sustained business prosperity in our national history," said Fess. "To continue it safe from the cycles of depression as the chief concern of the leaders in business. It is also their concern that agriculture find an ultimate solution for its various problems. Business and agriculture are interdependent for their mutual welfare. As one prospers so does the other.

"The problem of agriculture from the producers' viewpoint is a mere equitable distribution of the money the consumer has to pay for farm products," declared Fess. The immediate problem is more control by the farmer over his own market. His need is for a voice in the market control and that he be not compelled to submit to the whim of an unregulated market controlled by speculation. A buyer's market should be changed to a seller's market."

PITCHER TO MARRY

REFUSE TO COMMENT ON ISSUE EDITORIAL

Anti-Saloon League Paper Thrusts Religious Angle into Campaign

Columbus, Sept. 22 — Democratic party leaders here today refused to comment on an editorial in the current issue of the American Issue, official organ of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league which lashed Gov. Al. Smith as "a new type of candidate who 'appeals to the sports, jazz and liberal element of our population,' and frankly disfranchised participation of 'Anglo Saxon Protestant domination,' thus according to practical politicians here, thrusting to the fore for the first time the religious plank of the campaign closely following upon Smith's denunciation at Oklahoma City of "religious intolerance."

"If you believe in Anglo Saxon Protestant domination," the editorial asserted in part, "if you believe in prohibition, its observance and enforcement and if you believe in a further restricted immigration rather than letting down the bars still lower, then whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, you will vote for Hoover rather than Smith."

Declaring that "Anglo Saxon Protestants, working through both parties, have dominated America and made it what it is today," the editorial predicts that because "Smith is inclined to open the gates to foreigners, with their liberal tendencies and un-American customs, that element will be found for Smith in this campaign."

Freeman L. Dustman, editor of the American Issue, withheld comment on the editorial preferring as he said, to "let it speak for itself."

ENRAGED MAN KILLS SON, WIFE AT CHICAGO HOME

Chicago, Sept. 22—Enraged because his 16 year old son, Anthony refused to confide in him, Philip Manajlla shot and killed the boy and then turned the gun on his wife, Mary, here today.

FEAR 4 MORE FARM VICTIMS

Three Boys and Father Missing; Northcott Indicted by Grand Jury

Los Angeles Cal., Sept. 22—Three boys and their father who have been missing since Aug. 16, were today thought to have been additional victims of the "murder farm" near Riverside, Cal., where police are investigating the weird story that four boys had been mistreated and then hacked to death with a hatchet.

The four are Phil Nelson Scott, 15, of Newark, N. J., and his three sons, Claude, 20, Charles 18 and Albert, 12.

The quartet are declared to have gone into the house on the "murder farm" with the proprietor, Gordon Stewart Northcott, by a neighbor and her son who never saw them leave the ranch.

BREAKS SILENCE

Gordon Northcott Denies Murders as Jury Indicts Him

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22—Gordon Stewart Northcott, Los Angeles "ape man," charged with a series of monstrous human butcheries on his chicken ranch near Los Angeles, broke his silence for the first time since his arrest here today.

While sitting in his cell awaiting extradition to California and the sinister ranch which served as the setting for his alleged wholesale murders Northcott uttered the first words of his statement of innocence.

"Good God, what awful things to say about a man."

That was the beginning, then in defiant and caustic words, tumbling pell mell in contrast to his previous silence, Northcott dramatically denied the almost incredible charges against him.

"There has been a lot of stories circulated about me. All of them untrue."

MORE EVIDENCE

District Attorney Makes Public List of Alleged Grafters

Philadelphia, Sept. 22—Additional evidence of ram graft has been brought to light. District Attorney John Monaghan revealed today with the finding of another detailed list of grafters. Like the first "black list," it contains the names of police and police officials and the sums they obtained for protection.

Further evidence has been obtained, Monaghan said, showing, that a certain police captain deposited $7,000 in one bank from May 3 to Sept. 1 the withdrew the entire amount after several captains were called before the special grand jury investigating police corruption, large scale bootleggers and gang murders.

FIGHT FOREST FIRE

Thousand Men Battle Desperately Against Flames

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 22—More than a thousand men are desperately battling today to check a forest fire sweeping along a 20 mile front towards the Palomar mountain.

Late last night the flames, fanned by brisk breezes, were within three miles of Warner's Hot Springs resort. Residents and visitors deserted the resort and are fleeing before the fire.

Another fire reported to have originated at Ramona, Calif., burned down telegraph poles and disrupted all communication. A third blaze is sweeping the Tecate mountain near the Mexican border.

Fire combat crews were being rushed to the scene of the conflagrations from Los Angeles and other California cities.

DEATH LIST IN FLORIDA STORM TO REACH 1,500

Some Say Toll of Hurricane Will Be 1,800 When Check Is Completed

CONDITIONS APPALLING

Greatest Number of Deaths Due to Drowning, It Is Claimed

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 22—The probable death toll from the Florida hurricane will reach 1,500, Gov. John W. Martin declared today after a tour of the devastated region.

Clad in soiled white overalls, Martin described the conditions as the most appalling he has ever seen. Dead bodies are being uncovered in the muck hourly, he said, and the exact death toll will never be known.

Meanwhile, thousands are homeless and in want of food and clothing and Martin appealed for contributions to rehabilitate the storm-swept area as soon as possible.

Covered With Water

"For a radius of 25 or 30 miles just back of the high ridge of land that separates Lake Okeechobee from the Everglades, the land is completely covered with water," Martin said.

"The entire Everglades is flooded. It appears the hurricane picked up the water in Lake Okeechobee and blew it out over the rim and swept fully hundred thousand acres of land adjacent to lake where thousands of people were living.

"The loss of lives in the cities on the coast from the actual storm have been small compared to the drowning of people as the result of water covering the Everglades."

Ask More Quick Time

Appeals for additional shipments of quicklime to be used in burying the hurricane dead reached here today from relief workers in the flooded area between this city and Lake Okeechobee. Conditions are becoming increasingly unsanitary and the stricken area may be completely evacuated by tomorrow.

Red Cross workers returning here reported that the menace of flood caused by heavy rains and the flow of water from surrounding sections in to Lake Okeechobee, was confronting survivors in the area stretching from this lake almost as far east as the Palm Beaches. A large part of the Everglades is inhabited as a result of the 15 foot wall of water which pushed across the lake and into the towns and fields.

Steps Dead Total 1,800

Red Cross officials here, who estimate the casualties in the Lake Okeechobee region at between 800 and 1,000, today were thinking reports placing the death toll from 1,185 to as high as 1,500. Dr. F. H. Dawson in charge of medical relief, said that 1,185 bodies had been counted but that the total would reach 1,800.

More than 500 bodies already have been buried and many others are piled up awaiting disposition.

Indications are that adequate funds will be available for the work of rehabilitation and that it will not be necessary to apply for Federal aid. An appeal for $5,000,000 for relief throughout the entire area devastated by the hurricane was issued yesterday at the national headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington, and individual contributions continue to swell the state relief fund.

COOLIDGE TO DECIDE U. S. TREATY VIEWS

Franco-British Naval Agreement Question Before President

Washington, Sept. 22 — President Coolidge is expected to reach a decision shortly on the question of sending a note to Great Britain giving the views of the American government on the Franco British compromise naval disarmament agreement.

Opinion in official circles here is divided as to whether a note will be sent, and no state department officials profess to know what is in the president's mind on the subject. The president's position on the Franco British pact, however, was clearly stated at the White House at the first press conference there after he returned from his vacation in Wisconsin.

* * *

CHAPTER TWELVE

"YOU mean Ralph Blake" said Jim Renshaw I suppose you must —he's the only Blake I know—'

"That's the bad. Roving in money —not much of anything else to him that I've ever been able to make out. Good family—but that doesn't shed to mean much Especially when there as rich as this fellow's been ever since he was born I could tell you—he? what is the use There are some pretty rotten stories about him—that's all"

Go to it said Jim. What he done that I ought to hear

Nothing much—yet But he's started plenty—more than he can punish I'm hoping said the reporter. "He's been making a lot of cracks about you Says no one knows anything about you Says you turn up having you're here to a lot of money but he wouldn't be surprised himself he says if you were just an adventurer I guess—well—I guess he's sore because you came with the Delmars girl you see—

Says so does he

Something in Jim's tone made Trowbridge stare at him with a long low whistle of surprise And Jim himself was amazed at himself It was no longer any concern of his what Blake said or Irene did And yet—he scarcely knew the grim tone in which he had spoken

Well—I'm sort of taken for granted said Trowbridge It's never been announced but that doesn't mean anything these days Engagements are announced now just about when the wedding invitations go out. Anyway—Blake's going around saying all this about you and offering to bet that you'll drop out of sight within a month

Jim got up walked over to the window and looked out Below him was Park Avenue now become one of the great show streets of the city On both roadways motors great luxurious cars passed in endless double streams So far as his eye could reach towering apartment houses stood Here all about him was wealth a luxury beyond the dream of any other aristocracy the world had ever known He turned away and looked at Trowbridge.

It was on the tip of his tongue to tell the reporter that Blake was right. Then instinct halted him It was not time yet

"Well have to see about that I guess" he said quietly

Trowbridge laughed

I guess there isn't much seeing to be done" he said easily He's afraid you may spoke his wheel you see—that's all it comes to. He's not used to having anyone stand up to him when he's after anything—or anyone

I suppose not said Jim.

Well—I thought I'd let you know" said Trowbridge feeling for some reason he couldn't analyze a little dashed This fellow Blake's had one to have down on you He's got a lot of power in this town You see—I don't know how much you know about New York—money goes a long way here though

It does in most towns said Jim. That's my experience.

Yes—but I've an idea it'll get you more here than almost anywhere The right way—or the wrong Blakes fam ily has a lot of pull I know a motor cycle cop who pinched him once—he was soused and driving a racing car at his like a fool The cop was broke the next day

Not so good said Jim, with a frown

No So—well—you want to watch your step That's all Nothing to tell me I have you? Come out all right in Boston?

Sure I may have something to say in a day or two—don't count on it though If I do I'll see that you get it all to yourself

Late enough I won't bother you—and I'll try and keep the others off

Left alone Jim went back to the window He frowned as he thought over what Trowbridge had told him The more he thought of Blake the less he liked him And the less too he liked the idea of having to drop out as after today he must leaving Blake a clear field with Irene

It was not only his own feeling for Irene that counted his chance of being beaten by a rival he so keenly disliked—he was full of a profound conviction that if Irene married Blake she was dooming herself to an unhappiness that might darken her whole life

Let—what could he do? He was helpless—bound hand and foot He couldn't tell the truth and hope still to see Irene be admitted to intimacy with the Delmars There would be nothing of necessity snobbish about their inevitable withdrawal no other course would be open to them that was all He went to the telephone hesitated a moment then firmly lifted the receiver and called Irene's number

Oh hello! Her voice cheerful gay happy came to him You did make good time I'm so glad you're here! What? Alone? Today? My dear—you don't know what you're asking—I've a thousand things to do—I've got hundreds of people I simply must see Let me think—

Oh but I've got to see you today—I'm just trying to imagine when we could squeeze in two minutes without a lot of people around! I tell you—come to lunch anyway—at one 1 30 There'll be other people but I'll manage somehow—we'll give it the slip I've got to fly now—I'm late for an appointment at the hairdressers as it is, and they won't wait a minute—they take some one else if you're late no matter how old a customer you are Good bye—don't forget—1 30

She was gone With a tuneful smile he hung up the receiver He hadn't meant to place himself in a false position with the Delmars and their friends again but he had no choice How hard she was making it though for him to see it through—this reconciliation that he had to make of all that was dearest and most attractive to him in life!

He was a little early for lunch hoping to get his moment alone with her first But there he had woefully miscalculated for Irene was late in getting back from her morning round of shopping and he found himself with Henry Delmar genially mixing cocktails a rite he always performed himself Blake and three or four others

Blake scowled when Jim appeared Delmar though greeted him cordially and a little more warmly perhaps just because Blake let his feelings appear so plainly

You're here to Boston I hear? said Blake To see your lawyers Jim nodded Wonder if I know your firm? I've friends in Boston

'I don't know whether you know it or not said Jim

Who did you say your lawyers were? asked Blake

I didn't say said Jim

Blake stared a moment then turned his back

Soon Irene came in She made a comic gesture of despair as she entered

I know I'm late—I'm so sorry! she said And then, as Jim greeted her in a whisper No hope now till afterward! I'll do my best She raised her voice. Ralph—your chef wants you to call her up Right away—it's important. I told her I'd be seeing you

She always thinks it's important Ralph Blake grunted I'll call her after a while Thanks Irene'

Jim Once more Irene's voice was raised high and clear It floated across the room I had the most marvelous luck for you! Jerry Drew's been sent to the embassy in London, and I've taken his apartment for you—they transferred the lease—it's got nearly three years to run And I've put Henri Dourse to work redecorating it already—I don't want you even to see it till it's finished!

Even before them all Jim's mouth was open to speak He must no matter what the cost stop this farce before it went a moment further But Blake's sneering voice interrupted him

I hope you'll let Renshaw have something to do with his own place Irene he said Something simple—like paying the bills

Don't worry about that! Jim's voice was like the lash of a whip I've a way of paying my debts Blake —you'll do well to remember it!'

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

TODAY was Saturday The first day we have had since school started and we were all glad to see it. The first thing we did was to go to Mr Wagmore's lot to the row of grapes he has sold were ours and fill our hats with grapes and while we were doing that he came out and gave us another row but not till we had promised that we would eat off them He said he wouldn't let anyone else pick them and he didn't want them wasted so we must see that we ate all of them before the end of the season So we plugged along, behind our cows on the way to the pasture and ate grapes and the girls helped themselves to all they wanted out of our hats because they don't use their hats to carry grapes

If Jubilee and the other dogs would eat grapes like we do we could eat another row We had almost got all of our stomachs full before we got to the pasture and while I was opening the gate to let the cows through and they were all standing there looking at me and eating grapes out of their hats Nibs got a bunch of grapes in each hand and came up back of the Lost Bag of Tripe and reached around and mashed both bunches against his face and the harder the Lost Bag of Tripe tried to get away the harder Nibs rubbed them in When he did duck out of Nibs hands he was a sight and he gave Nibs a flat hanked willow on the nose that almost made his eyes fly up and Nibs jabbed him with what was left of one of the bunches of grapes with his hand behind it and then they went after each other and they stood up tree to toe and jabbed each other and never did try to duck or guard

The Lost Bag of Tripe was the maddest because he was nearly crying but Nibs was grinning Nibs is tough If Nibs don't move away or die or something he might lick me sometime, and then he would be boss of the bunch I don't think he will ever move away, and I don't want him to die It would be awful if one of our bunch would die But of course if he should die it wouldn't be my fault, and I have never seen a pallbearer yet at a funeral But if he don't die then he can lick me he'll live a long time Just then the Lost Bag of Tripe got enough and turned around and skun out and Nibs nose was bleeding and he had a shanty over one eye We all took his nose to the creek and washed it. He said he will make a grape fella out of the Lost Bag of Tripe yet. But even if he does I bet he can't make one out of Spider Gutwaltz or out of Mealy, but Mealy's a girl And you can't make nothing much out of a girl

Love's Awakening

THE HEART STORY OF A WOMAN'S AFFECTIONS

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary's Clever Clipping of the Ink Stained Letter

KATIE'S appearance in Mary's room really seemed to present a sudden obstacle to the investigations of the ink stained letter I shot a furtive glance at the waste basket which I had seen her empty and refill with fresh paper just before she came in. Yes it still contained the crumpled pieces of the letter, although it seemed to me that there were fewer of them than I had seen then and that the basket itself was not in exactly the same place that it had been when I first looked into it But it was easily possible that I was mistaken about this. Katie could have picked up the fragments in the ordinary routine of tidying up the room

I did not wish for to suspect my interest in the wastebasket On the other hand I felt that I must take my investigation as soon as possible

"I think that's good lines of yours Katie I will try to clean them myself the morning while the girls are out But I want you to make a special effort for Monday—Mr Graham was asking for that pink ruffling of yours and you know that takes some time so I'll help you get over to Marion's room and clean that and I'll get this to startle I want to look over the clothes in Marion's at anyway Some of them I'm sure might go to the cleaners and others I'm going to turn over to the sewing section when she comes to go over Marion's things I'll see if I can know whom you're through in Marion's room

It always makes Katie cross when I offer to help her with the cleaning She seems to feel that I am impugning her ability to accomplish her routine tasks So I was not surprised to hear her grumbling to herself as she picked up her trousers and started for Marion's room But I waited no time upon her wattle only until she was safely past Mary's room before locking the door of Mary's

Now for a newspaper—yes, one of the evening before was lying on the reading table I spread it out fully over the bed which Mary had made before leaving and then crossing to the wastebasket I first took out the large crumpled pieces of letter and laid them inside Then I took the tents of the basket out of the paper and laid the large of these over

There were few of the latter—the strips of silk cut new by the scissors but I had seen before a spotted dress pattern a picture I had not noticed before young Dutch and two other elements of Dolores's work Quickly I put these back in the basket trying to make it look exactly as before and then spread the crumpled pieces of the letter out upon the paper

They had been torn separately and so I tried to fit them together into the original form I felt like the seventeenth sleuth in a third rate novel But I persisted and boldly had the all letter I gathered out a clouds cut circular hole in the center

I looked over the pieces on the bed every one was accounted for but there had been no pieces of the old letter in the wastebasket—the ink was its stencils stain to make sure

Suppose—of course Mary—had cut that circle, on doubt to take out the ink soaked portion of which she had spoken when she asked for the new letter from me But if that hypothesis were the true one, where was that inky section?

I looked carefully over the edges of the circular hole No trace of ink there Nor could I find any on the edges of the wastebasket Either the girl had been equivocating when she said she'd spilling the ink on the blotter or she had pulled the ink soaked portion of the letter in a paper and carried it outside her room for disposal

But even this more remained for me to do With meticulous care I fixed the little pieces of letter spread out on the bed before me There were traces of old Red Ink lines upon it but so few and faint that there was nothing to be deciphered from them

TO BUILD ENGINE

Clobery expects to manufacture a complete seven cylinder motor which he will install in an airplane chassis manufactured by his brother R J Clobery manager and chief pilot for the Seaman's Airports Inc, Uniontown, Pa

According to plans and specifications outlined by Clobery, the engine would be of three five seven and nine cylinders and would have about one and two-thirds more power for the same cylinder displacement. # OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT AT MANSFIELD

N. C. O. SEASON WILL OPEN HERE

Five Teams of League Hard Hit by Graduation; Coach Murphy Has Letterman for Every Position on Big Reds

BY KARL E. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

MANSFIELD, the hot air cut of the North Central Ohio high school league, is back on the job again and, if weather of the five aggregations in the loop take heed of the warm breezes from that section, they will not contest for the cup this year.

However, Coach Murphy of the Big Red has plenty to crow about and only a small amount of work to do in whipping his team in to shape. A letterman for each position and everyone a star is the basis for the brass cats's bid for the title as early in the season.

Of the six teams in the league, Mansfield has the best outlook to date as far as material is concerned. Every other coach in the league will have a tough job in getting together a winning aggregation.

Hard Hit By Graduation

Every other school was hard hit by graduation. Shelby, champions of last season, will have but five lettermen back on the regular squad.

Little is being heard from the camp of the Gallonites. Coach Dave Eaton is having his crew into shape but will have to develop a wealth of new material.

Again the city of lost stars by graduation is heard when one passes through Ashland. Amid all the groans in N. C. O. center, there can be heard cheers for the new candidates who are expected to set the pool on fire.

Five seems to be an unlucky number for most league teams this season. Over Bucyrus way only five lettermen will be back at the old alma mater.

Now that all other teams have been briefly touched upon, we can stop for a few minutes on the home lot where Coaches Dewey Bolyer and "Stubby" Compton are leading Harding's Red and Black pigskin carriers through stiff workouts. Although things are not so bright due to graduation and ineligibility, one cannot say that the grid mentors are anyway near down cast or disheartened over the prospects for the season.

One cannot always have winning teams but Harding is being looked upon to furnish all N. C. O. hopes a stiff battle before the curtain finally drops.

Depends on New Material

The success of the Red and Blacks depends entirely on how the new material develops. In numbers there is a wealth of it but one cannot say much about their playing ability shown in scrimmages.

If we can take reports at their full value, the nobs of the Mansfield school need not be feared. Those who return back to last season, it was Mansfield who was going to win the pennant. They didn't.

All eyes of the league will be centered on the first N. C. O. contest in which the strength of Harding will be tested. Galion will pry the lid off the local as well as the loop season here next Saturday. It is the only league game scheduled that week.

Two schools will dedicate new football plants this year. Ashland and Shelby are playing games this season on brand new fields.

MARYSVILLE WINS FIRST, 6-0

DELAWARE DEFEATED IN LAST QUARTER OF PLAY IN EVEN GAME

Union County Eleven Failure in Forward Passing Department

MARYSVILLE, Sept 22 — After completing only one forward pass out of 17 attempts during the entire game, Marysville high gridders changed tactics in the last four minutes of play and carried the ball over for the winning touchdown on plunges through the center of the line, defeating Delaware High, 6 to 0 yesterday afternoon on Delaware's field.

Taking the ball on Delaware's 23-yard line after their opponents had been forced to punk against a stiff wind, Marysville started the drive down the field which spelled defeat for Delaware. Bump circled left end for 10 yards, another first down was added when a Delaware man interfered with a Marysville lad who was trying to catch a pass, and "Barrel" Gallaway, 180 pound Marysville half back, did the rest. Try for point failed.

Penalties Feature

The winning break came after three quarters of one of the most hectic exhibitions of football witnessed by Marysville fans in the last few years. The battle was featured by penalties. And the penalties came always when one of the teams was within scoring distance.

The two teams as a whole were almost evenly matched, although Marysville was on the defensive a large part of the time during the last half. While the locals failed to complete their passes, Delaware had a record of five good ones out of six attempted.

At one time in the third quarter, Mavis, Delaware quarterback, took the ball on a 50-yard end run for a touchdown, only to have the pigskin brought back and put into play in the center of the field because one of his teammates had been penalized for fouling Marysville.

National League Flag May Be Won Or Lost In Final Game of New York Series

Victory for Cardinals Will Leave Only Mathematical "If" Between Them and Championship; McGraw Picks on Fred Fitzsimmons

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—This will be do or don't day at the Polo Grounds, with the winning and losing of the 1928 National league pennant practically vested in the result of a single ball game between the St. Louis Cardinals, leading by two games with only nine to play, and the New York Giants. It will be the key contest of the campaign, since a victory for the Giants will leave them only one game in arrears and a defeat will eliminate them also beyond the peradventure of the mathematical "if."

In other words, they do or they don't this afternoon and the Giants, knowing that, in their case, don't means won't, will settle all on the performance of Fred Fitzsimmons, perhaps the best pinch hitter with the stick. The Cards, knowing that don't will mean future doubt for them, will counter with Clarence Mitchell, the only left hander in existence who pitches with his salivary gland. If Clarence can't do it, then the Cards will almost have to concede that it isn't in them.

To Set New Mark

Clear and cooler was the weather forecast for this great moment of a great campaign and, with the memory Coferg them of the Giants' rabbit out of the hat victory in the second game on Thursday, the turnstiles will be in for a terrible beating. It is expected that the populace will attend almost in a body, exceeding the 55,000 capacity of the park and overflowing into the streets, where they will be able to hear a very good ball game.

Two days ago, the second game and the pennant were as good as won for the Cardinals and, if they had come to pass, they could have gone out there today and played their game in the cloistered privacy demanded by retired heavyweights. But generosity got the better of them.

"You take the ball game," they said, in effect.

"All right," said the Giants as one who goes out of his way to do a favor, "we will." And they did. If McKechnie is looking for a club house motto today, the writer suggests the one about the inadvisability of giving the genus sucker an even break.

Mitchell Giants' Jinx

A victory then would have meant a four-game lead with more than a possibility that by tonight this would have been five. For Mitchell, picked up out of the used parts department for his ability to harass the Giants, can and does achieve this effect at the slightest notice or even less.

The Giants pulled one out of the hat on him in St. Louis during the last series but there is nothing in the records to indicate that they figure to do it again. Mitchell's venerable left arm has been accorded the week's siesta it usually needs nowadays to be at its best and, with Fitzsimmons nominated on the opposing ticket, everything points to the tidiest pitching of the series, which is saying not too much.

DEMPSEY-FIRPO ACT PULLED IN NEW YORK

Fighters Leave Ring Three Times; Knight Given Decision

New York, Sept. 22—Jack Dempsey's famous back dive through the ropes in his memorable encounter with Louis Firpo at the Polo Grounds, five years ago, was improved on by Lew Warshaw, Coney Island heavyweight, in a riotous six round brawl here last night with Rocky Knight, a huge colored Ben Turpin. Warshaw not only went through the ropes, but disappeared entirely on the first round and again in the sixth to prove it wasn't a fluke. In the second round he switched to the Firpo role, pushed Knight out of the ring and deposited him on the new fall skimmer of a gentleman of the press.

Knight was awarded the decision by a score of two touchdowns to one.

LOYAZA KAYOED

Billy Petrolle Takes Fight In Second Round

Detroit, Sept. 22—Billy Petrolle, socked Stan Loyaza, Chilean lightweight, down for the long count last night after one minute and five seconds of fighting in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Olympia.

Petrolle plastered Loyaza during the first part of the first round and then left his jaw in the way of a right swing that stung him. He came back and painted up Loyaza some more but just before the bell he bumped into a vicious right with his jaw that made his knees buckle.

Loyaza tore into Petrolle as the second heat got under way. He hooked a half dozen lefts to the head in quick succession. Then Petrolle lashed out with a left and right to the head and as Loyaza fell in Petrolle crossed again with the right and the fight was over.

TERRIS WINNER

Lead in Fifth Stage Series With McGraw

New York, Sept. 22—The see-saw series between Sol Terris and Phil McGraw furnished another melodramatic thrill last night at the Coney Island stadium, when Terris was declared the winner on a foul, in the sixth round. The alleged foul was committed in the fifth round.

In the sixth Referee Tommy Sheridan, obeying a boxing commissioner's order to stop the fight, disqualified McGraw for thumbing Sol's eye in the previous round.

NEBRASKA, MISSOURI BEST GRIDIRON BETS

New Coaches Making First Appearances with Valley Schools

Chicago, Sept. 22—Nebraska and Missouri are the two best bets in the Missouri Valley for the coming football season this year, though Iowa State and Kansas will be about fair. Bluejay at Oklahoma has a great team in the offing.

Bo McMillan who succeeds Charles Buchman at the Kansas Aggies will no doubt take at least a year to get his system established. The same might be said for Bill Hargiss who comes to Kansas for the first time.

Workman at Iowa State is displaying real ability as a coach, notwithstanding the fact that his material is just ordinary. Iowa State is being regarded in the light of a dark horse. Anything can happen when Iowa farmer lads develop into football players.

Dr. Sharp of Yale came to Washington university and "Bunk" Anderson of Notre Dame goes to St. Louis university. Both of them are trying to whip football teams in to shape at colleges where the game has been at lowest ebb for many years.

Marquette university will turn out its usual strong team this year. There is no question that at the end of the season Marquette will rank with the best in the country.

Ohio Wesleyan, Coe, Butler, Michigan State and Carlton are expected to upset some of the big teams this fall.

WAYNESFIELD IS DEFEATED, 34-0

Three Touchdowns Scored by Coach "Dinty" Moore's Eleven on Passes; Line Strong, but Backfield Shows Up Ragged

THE football season in Marion county got under way at LaRue Friday afternoon when Coach "Dinty" Moore's gridders trod roughshod over the Waynesfield eleven to win, 34 to 0.

LaRue's maroon to victory started early in the game with points being scored in every quarter. The contest was witnessed by more than 300 fans.

As was predicted earlier in the season, the line of the LaRue team is their main tower of strength. Waynesfield was very unsuccessful on their drives and as a result the LaRue goal line was never in danger of being crossed.

Backfield Ragged

While the line was standing up under the plunges of the Waynesfield backs, the LaRue backfield showed rather ragged although being able to score five touchdowns.

Pass work accounted for three of the five tallies and it is in this department that the Marion county gridders excelled. The other two touchdowns were scored on an end run and a smash through center on a fake play.

Winkler scored two of the touchdowns from his position at half. One of them was the result of a 65-yard run across the goal line. He placed the ball in scoring position after a 40-yard dash down the field. Although failing to score, Young helped with a 25 yard end run.

Wilcox Punts Good

The punting of D. Wilcox, who plays a regular center position, was one of the features of the contest. His punts averaged around 45 yards in spite of the strong winds that swept over the field.

Coach Moore used 18 men in the game in an effort to try out his material. No game is scheduled for next week but the all important Richwood LaRue fray is slated for the week following.

The lineups:

| LaRue—34 | Pos. | Waynesfield—0 |
|---|---|---|
| Trapp | RE | R. Bowers |
| Sheriden | RT | W Blank |
| Perish | RG | M. Blank |
| D. Wilcox | C | Tussing |

Substitutions: B Allen for Dickason, B Wilcox for Price, Converse for Parish; Woods for Trapp; Strawser for B Wilcox; Johnson for Strawser.

Touchdowns D'ickason, Freeman, Metz, Winkler, 2.

Yanks on Road to Another Pennant; Two Games Ahead

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—While the Yankees, two games in front of the Athletics with only nine more to play, are apparently on the road to another pennant, the hoodoo aren't yet ready to pay off on an outfit that blew a 3-game lead this summer and has fallen to pieces on previous western trips.

New York's leading pitchers are getting shellacked quite regularly in the west, as a matter of fact. It was old Tom Zachary, a second stringer with Washington a few weeks ago, who turned back the White Sox yesterday and insured a 5 to 2 victory by cleaning a home run with one on base. The Yanks got only seven hits in all off Adkins.

Aces Hard Hit

All the pitching aces of the various contenders are finding the going tough. Hoyt and Pipgras of the Yanks were beaten Thursday, as were Benton of the Giants and Alexander of the Cardinals, and Lefty Grove of the Athletics got his yesterday. Homers by Rice and Stone of Detroit scored seven runs The A's couldn't do much to Claude Van Gilder and the Tigers won, 9 to 1.

The Cubs dropped back to four games behind the Cardinals and out of the pennant picture when Nehf lost a 2 to 1 duel to Dazzy Vance the Brooklyn strike out king. A pass by Nehf forced in the winning run. Vance yielded only two singles, one in the first inning and one in the ninth.

Vance Fans 11

The Dazzler whiffed 11 men, increasing his season's mark to 193. His ambition to reach the 200 mark this year will do the Cardinals practically no good when he faces them next week in his last game of the season.

The Boston Braves are getting tough, too. They split another double bill with the Reds, Hornsby hitting two homers. Three double plays by the Reds gave them a major league record of 185 for the season.

The Phils dropped a 6 to 5 decision to Pittsburgh for their ninth straight defeat.

Cleveland lost twice to Washington by the same score, 2 to 1, but showed two rookie pitchers of great promise. Earl Averill and Monte Jaap. Sewell, now a third baseman, is about the only veteran in the Cleveland line-up.

Motor Stocks Hit By Heavy Profit-Taking

OILS ADVANCE UNDER STIMULUS OF BUYING

Wall Street Expects 100 Per Cent G. M. C. Stock Dividend

REPORTS FAVORABLE

Hudson Motors and Chrysler Carry Prices Few Points Higher

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Industrial stocks irregular, railroad stocks inactive, domestic bonds firm, foreign bonds steady, curb stocks strong, grain steady, cotton firm, rubber steady, pig iron steady, foreign exchange irregular.

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 22—Profit-taking in the motor stocks and specialties at the beginning of trading today caused some irregularity in the listed market, but aggressive buying proceeded in the coppers and other sections, the oils in particular forging ahead under the stimulus of active demand.

The favorable statement of President Alfred Sloan of General Motors Corporation was so well known in advance in the financial district that the big traders who acquired stocks in yesterday's brilliant run up were ready to sell to the public today. General Motors was freely offered around the 217 level, and selling continued with the decline in price to 215. Wall Street believes that a 100 per cent stock dividend is the least the directors will authorize, as this alone would bring the new selling price of the stock to approximately $100 a share, the desired range for an investment stock.

Week end business and industrial reports were generally favorable though some tardiness was noted in the distribution of commodities in important sections, and the destructive southern hurricane, with its heavy toll of human life and destruction of property, has imposed a tremendous handicap upon a wide territory.

The upward move in Hudson Motors and Chrysler carried prices a few points higher. Hudson was well bought above 87 and Chrysler above 111. Packard held the bulk of its recent gains in irregular trading. Studebaker, Hupp, Overland and other well-known motor stocks were comparatively quiet. Wall Street is again predicting an "old-fashioned" oil share market. Atlantic Refining moved up to within a point of 100 and Pan Americans were strong.

Increase in Fruit Prices Reported Here as Result of Hurricane Devastation

Wholesale Dealers List Advances, Although Retail Market Conditions Remain Unchanged; Fruits from West Indies and Florida To Be More Costly, Is Forecast

Although no change was noted today in the retail division of Marion markets, local dealers reported an advance in the wholesale price of citrous fruits and bananas as a result of the recent hurricane in the West Indies and Florida which destroyed a large part of the crop there.

Bananas sold at two pounds for 25 cents and lemons at 45 cents a dozen on the retail market today, no change being noted from the prices asked the first of the week. Old supplies of the fruit, however, are being sold by local dealers. An advance in price is expected to take place when a new supply is sought from local wholesale dealers.

Price Changes Listed

Many changes were noted today on the fruit and vegetable stands and the meat and provision houses. Some of the prices today changes for the special Saturday sales while a majority of the quotations fluctuated with cattleiers on the various produce exchanges.

A new variety of lake peaches, the "free stone," made its appearance in a small quantity on the local fruit stands yesterday. The peaches sold at the usual prices found here on the lake region variety, 90 cents to $2.50 a bushel.

An increase in the price of home-grown Concord grapes was noted on the local stands. The best grade of stems sold at $1.25 today while yesterday dealers were asking $1 a bushel. A poor grade of grapes selling this week at 75 cents, disappeared from the market today.

Marked decreases in the prices of cauliflower and head lettuce were announced. Cauliflower prices dropped from 50 and 60 cents each to 15 and 25 cents and head lettuce from 20 and 25 cents each to 10 and 20 cents a head.

Eggs and butter were also listed at higher prices today. Butter selling at 48 cents a pound yesterday advanced to 50 cents and storage eggs from 33 cents to 35 cents. Fresh eggs were being quoted at 42 cents a dozen.

Canning Boosts Sales on Produce Market This Week

Canning activities of Marion residents in the past week resulted in one of the largest weekly sales of the season, according to local produce dealers.

Forecast in the sales during the period were peaches, purchased in bushel lots for canning purposes. Lake region peaches appeared on the markets at the first of the week, selling at many prices ranging from $1 to $2.75 a bushel. Only slight changes were noted in sales at the end of the period.

Peaches of all sizes, grades and varieties moved on the local fruit stands during the week, dealers report. Most customers preferred the best and largest grade, which sold at prices of $2.50 and $2.75 a bushel. A large ratio of the smallest and poorest grade, at $1 a bushel, was also reported over the city.

Grapes Plentiful

Home-grown grapes, appearing in large quantities this week for the first time this season, also took on the air of popularity with the canning customers. A large quantity appearing in the middle of the week, brought the price down to $1 a bushel for the best grade in the city. Other grades were selling as low as 75 cents a bushel.

Sweet corn continued to appear in small quantities on the market and sold during the week at 25 cents a dozen on most of the stands. Dealers predicted the end of the sweet corn season for some time next week.

Sales Heavy

A good supply and a high grade of cantaloupes appeared and sold in large numbers every day during the week. "Pinkney" melons proved the best sellers, with the home grown variety ranking a close second. Large sized cantaloupes from gardens in the northern part of the state appeared at the last of the week and sold steadily. The prices on the latter variety ranged from 30 to 60 cents each. A 10 pound melon sold Thursday for 75 cents on one of the vegetable stands.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 22—The grain markets turned yesterday against the bears, not like a down-trodden worm, but like a raging lion. Prices went upward from a lower opening and a sluggish start that at first dragged them downward slightly. Wheat soared through the daily and the weekly offers and at the end was changing at the lid like a Derby horse pulled up at the end of six furlongs.

At the close wheat was up 3¾@4 1¾; corn was ½ lower to 1½ higher; oats were ⅝@½ higher; rye was up 3¼@5½.

It was September corn that closed ½ lower. As pointed out here the other day the excitement in that future may be over and it may go out quietly at the end of this month at around its present level.

Corn on Upgrade

But that does not seem to be the case with the deferred futures. They may go a good deal higher. The trade, accustomed to look to the September future for leadership in the corn market, may have somewhat lost its bearings and come to ignore the enormous premium of which it is selling above the other futures.

Today the other corn futures may begin to make up some of the ground lost by dragging so far behind the current future. It should not be surprising if corn gets eager support from the opening this morning, particularly the December future.

The new corn crop is a "quality crop." Its excellence naturally raises its value per bushel. Compared with hogs and cattle it is very cheap. And above everything the yeast seems to be working in all the grains.

Rye in Strong Position

The strength in rye, which has a sound foundation in the small crop in this country and the loss of 25 per cent in the crop of Poland, the country usually the biggest influence in the world's rye situation, is too obvious to need comment. All through this year so far, all through its market weakness, the underlying strength in the rye crop situation has always been greater than in any other grain.

An election bull market, in my opinion as suggested here for the last three days as likely to come, is under way. Election sentiment is rapidly crystallizing on what the result will be, and the public is convinced that prices of all grains will work very much higher between now and November 6.

It is worth noting that the advance in wheat at Winnipeg yesterday was greater than it was here.

WAR DEBTS TO U. S. WON'T BE AFFECTED

Negotiations Launched in Europe for Possible Reparations Revision

Washington Sept 22—Negotiations which have been launched in Europe for conferences leading to possible revision of the reparations situation and eventually to the determination of what Germany must pay, will have no effect on the war debts to United States a high administration official declared today

While officials said that the reparations question is one for Europe to get the little doubt exists in the minds of the Washington government that within the next few years the European debtors will come to the United States with a definite proposal for revision of the $10 000 000 000 for the debts

Despite the fact that all important countries have ratified funding agreements except France, there is widespread dissatisfaction still existing in Europe and the feeling is prevalent that the debts should be cancelled or at least greatly reduced

A crisis is coming in the French situation In that country a new budget which will be prepared in December, must be included provision either for meeting the terms of the Mellon Berenger agreement with a payment of $12 500 000 due next year or for inserting the $400 000 000 war supplies debt in one lump This debt, which has been recognized by France as a commercial obligation is due in August

Will Learns His Lines

Keminiscences on Early Days of Show Business in Big Town as He Hangs Around for Rehearsals with Dorothy Stone

BY WILL ROGERS

I feel like a kid at a school entertainment

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see here and there. Been jumping around pretty lively lately. Left old Beverly and jumped back to New York to rehearse a part in Dorothy Stone's show. Its the first time I ever did rehearse. In all the Follies, I just generally had my specialty and dident have to learn any lines only the ones I would read every day in the papers. But this is a kind of a part. Course its not much of a part as acting goes, but I will have to learn the lines so the other actors will know when their cue comes.

Its all Greek to me. I feel like a kid at his first school entertainment. Old New York looks just the same after an absence of about three years. Course I have played there every year, but only one night just like all the rest. But this will be my first stage engagement with a show since I left the Follies three years ago.

Not Many Changes

You know I believe a big city changes less than any other place. I've been a many a year since I first went back there, but it dont seem like there has been so many changes. You see it always was so big, that it just dont seem like it can get any bigger. A street can just be so full of houses, and it was full of them when I first saw it. Course they change the houses every few years, but they all look about alike.

My first appearance in New York was at the old Madison Square Garden. It was during a horse show, Col. Zack Mulhall of Mulhall, Oklahoma took a bunch of us boys back there to work as an attraction during the show, and I stayed and went on the stage after the rest come home. It was in 1905. Thats twenty-three years ago. I hope Tom Mix dont mind me telling that he was with us too. He has enough that he dont have to worry about how old people might think he is.

Kelly's old Union Square on Fourteenth Street was the one where I made my first stage appearance. But it was at the theater where they sent me the second week where I made my best hit and stayed at it all summer. That was at the greatest vaudeville theater of that and all time. That was Hammerstein's. I stayed on the roof on a whole summer.

We played on the roof at nights and down stairs at matinee. We have never produced another showman like Willie Hammerstein, and the old man himself was living in those day and with what that theatre made he was able to indulge in presenting opera.

I used a horse on the stage then and had a cowboy ride him across at a run and made catches on him as he ran by. I had sheriff Buck McKee with me. I wish I knew where Buck was. He was on a ranch in California some place the last I heard of him. Everybody in vaudeville knew Buck and Teddy, the pony. I did that type of act for over three years, during which time I went to Europe twice, played at the Wintergarden, Berlin, in 1907.

But wait, I am getting old and starting to reminesce. I will be telling you how much better the performers were in those days than they are today if I keep on. But I must get back to my knitting, and rehearsing. Think of it though. Twenty-three years on the stage and never rehersed before!

Well, let's cut out all this Old Time Honey, and get down to present day scandal. I am paid to tell the truth about the politicians and not to drag in old times and tell what we used to do. Let's get back to the comedy. Raskob just come back from the west and says, "Al has the solid South, the Mushy East, the cracked North, and has a fighting chance in the Cuckoo West." Senator Moses, not the Jewish one, but a head of blacksmiths and now perhaps a mere baptist, says that Smith won't carry his own Brown Derby, that Hoover has the whole thing sewed up, and that the only reason they are going through with the election is just because they have the ballots printed, and it's a kind of a holiday anyway.

Meet Own Kind

Now that is the way those Birds rave on from day to day. You would think that everybody in America had gone to them and placed a bond and a guarantee the very way that they were going to vote. Did you ever see such assurance in your life? Everywhere they go, Moses only meets the Republicans. Naturally a Democrat wouldn't be seen with him, and Raskob or whoever it is on the other side, everywhere they go, all they meet is the Democrats. Republicans have self respect and watch who they are caught with, so how in the world are they going to get an opinion.

Besides the man that announces who he is going to vote for generally is not registered, or perhaps his wife has not told him how he IS to vote yet anyway. Any of those fellows don't know any more about this election than the rest of us, and we don't know anything. If both sides were as sure as they claim, why are they working so hard, and spending so much money? Those Guys like a dollar as well as the rest of us, and they wouldn't be handing anything out to the voter if they knew it was a cinch.

Don't Vote for Nothing

No sir, it's a tough race. The Democrats not only have a good candidate, but they got money, which is better to have than a good candidate. When there is money in an election it's always doubtful. Well this ol' Burg of New York sure is ready to go the limit for Al. Coming from California I see it's pretty noticeable the difference in the sentiment. So if you get big odds either way take 'em, and don't vote for nothing. They will pay you either way you want to vote. Well, I am glad I am back here among the excitement. New York election night will be worth mingling with.

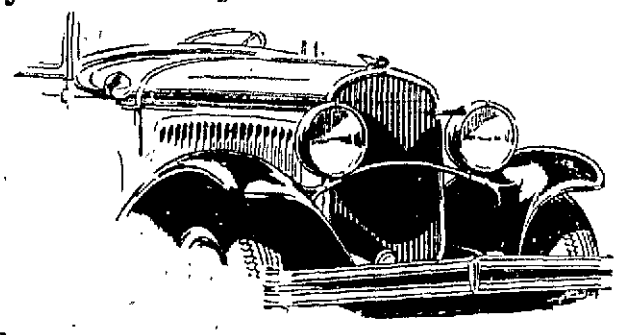
You instantly see Your Dollar buys infinitely more with CHRYSLER



CHRYSLER makes it plain, even to the eye, that the price of a Chrysler buys infinitely more than it could elsewhere.

This was never more brilliantly exemplified than in these exquisite cars—the new Chrysler "75" and the "65."

They are more emphatically stamped with smartness and style.

They are more dashing in every big and little detail of performance.

They are richer than anything in their class ever has been—longer, roomier bodies with equipment and metal-ware of exclusive Chrysler pattern.

In short, from every angle, they point for comparison with cars far, far above them in price—cars costing hundreds, yes, even a thousand dollars more.

New Chrysler "75" Prices—Royal Sedan, $1535; 2-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1535; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1555; Town Sedan, $1655; (6-ply full-balloon tires.)

New Chrysler "65" Prices—Business Coupe, $1040; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1065; 2-door Sedan, $1065; Touring Car, $1075; 4-door Sedan, $1145; Coupe (with rumble seat), $1145.

ALL'S NOT WELL AS CRITIC SEES PLAYS

Productions To Be Bright and Shiny with Praise Go Flivvering

By RUTH NORRIS
Marion Star Staff Writer

York Sept 22—Merely to prove its not sophomorically critical young heart it was the intention this week's dramatic discourse to be bright and shiny with wholesome praise But well laid plans of partic'darly well made plays and nice idea like many others go a-glivering

For what we have brought forth nothing to make theatrical history even upon although it did present ideas that lamentably were not worked out to their logical rightness

Good Boy Arthur Hammerstein's musical play in which Eddie Buzzell again proves that the smart counter boy, an ease and wise cracks in hand is sure to make his way dollar mark in time for the final curtain there were possibilities but never were they scenic

In this piece which boasts 33 scenes lightning transformations were effected by the use of stage treadmills upon which the decors supplied quietly and efficiently into place Two treadmills running in opposite directions made it possible for Good Boy to traverse the city against a changing background of Twenty third st Twenty-eighth st Thirty ninth st and so on up to the glories of the Paramount theater—quite the Biggest Thing as someone remarked since Ben Hur Still another scene ingenuity transformed an interior into an exterior scene with a sweeping view of Central Park and the lights thereof Don't ask me how it was done—probably all with mirrors!

Here were possibilities for one good move—nothing could have stirred the spectator to more rousing cheers than a cleverly presented saga of a city But the kaleidoscopic effects were done with a combination of picture post card and Abies Irish Rose technic. Furthermore, since the book of Good Boy was very bad and replete with ancient wheezes the scenic effects were left pretty much to their own mechanical devices and as a result became tiresome

The second act which yielded most to personality was more entertaining. Thanks to round-eyed Helen Kane, a jazz stylist whose songs were delightful and Charles Butterworth's futile protests at the follies of the day there were some very amusing moments All there were Borah Minevitch and his motley group of harmonica players whose performance on these inadequate instruments is a thing not only to marvel at but to stop shows with Mr Minevitch's music hum everything you've ever heard and you'll have a composite arrangement of the score of Good Boy

This Ones Out Too

With Philip Dunning collaborator of Broadway as author and Winchell Smith master play-doctor and stage-craft specialist as director everything augured well for Night Hostess John Golden's latest presentation But the expected smash hit did not come off Here were all the elements of Broadway strung together without the continuity of that glamorous piece—inside picture of a racket," tragedy lurking behind synthetic glitter the golden heart beneath the rough exterior the leering wolf in sheep's clothing—everything that might have gone toward good theater But put them all together as Mr Dunning has and they spell practically nothing

Everyone loves seeing a Big Business man in his laboratory pulling the strings that work the nation in lowering the mercury of Wall Street holding a president in hard more hell by than a dollar cigar That at any rate is what Myron C Logan must have thought when he decided to give The Great Power to a waiting theatrical world In it John F Power (notice the symbolism in the title) contrasted his blustering big business was destroying and elevating as he close His particular urge was to smash the Senator son of an ancient enemy—and in this aim he was I feel confident defeated by the heroine I left the auditorium a few minutes after John Lowe pointing his finger at the girl whom we all knew by that time as none other than his own daughter declaimed

You are the nameless daughter of a wandering gypsy from the Barbary Coast! Runs fun but a girl can't laugh all the time

Music Best of Play

'Lukee Girl' an adaptation of a French piece by Andre Barde and Maurice Yvain with music by the latter was just what one might expect an American version of a French musical farce to be The story (all about mismated couples who get sorted out properly in the course of the last act) as retold in American slang lost all the charm that it may have held in the Paris version—with characters being as rude to each other as those in a Lonsdale play but with nothing of their charm In fact one wondered as the play progressed just what would be the French equivalent for You big baloney!

The only pieces of 'Lukee Girl' were to me its French music which had a naivete and variety of tempo that was a refreshing relief from the American jazz formula and a huge following Billy House whose comedy was delightful when not too concerned with the double entendre laid on with elephantine delicacy

Merely to say something agreeable—and I mean it—let me recommend Buster Keaton's new comedy The Cameraman to your earliest inspection Many opinions to the contrary I think it the best thing he has ever done Having limited his pantomime to the frozen face variety it is interesting to note just how much Keaton's white immobile face can convey Some of the sequences are enormously funny and the whole picture a perfect oasis in a desert of dull comedies

Christian churches of Marion, Crawford and Morrow counties will hold their annual tri-county conclave Thursday, Oct. 11, at Bucyrus, according to announcement made today by the Rev. George E. Graves, pastor of Central Christian church.

The sessions will be at 10 a. m., 1:30 and 7:30 p. m. The principal speakers will be the Rev. W. R. Ellis, of Mt. Gilead and representatives of the state conference. There will also be short talks by Mr. Graves, the Rev. J. H. Swain, of Kirkpatrick, and the Rev. Bruce Moore, of Bucyrus.

PASTOR ILLUSTRATES SERIES OF SERMONS

Wesley M. E. Minister Paints Scenes on Canvas as He Talks

As a special feature of Sunday night services at Wesley M. E. church, the Rev. George Whitlock, pastor will present a series of illustrated sermons.

The first of the series, "Ugly Birds," was given last Sunday night, the second, "The Divine Wrestler," presenting the story of Jacob wrestling with the Angel before entering his own land, will be given Sunday night.

Mr. Whitlock paints the pictures in pastel shades on a canvas 30 inches square, while he talks. The pictures depict the theme of the sermon and present some Biblical story with a moral.

Before coming to Marion as pastor of Wesley church Mr. Whitlock spent a year traveling on the lecture course platform, appearing in churches and schools throughout the country. Among his paintings are western scenes, incidents of travel, Indian pictures and historical views.

Christ Mighty to Save

ISAIAH 64:1

A SERMONETTE

BY THE REV. E. HABBAUGH, Pastor, Calvary Evangelical Church

THIS chapter of Isaiah is generally supposed to refer to Christ's triumphs on the cross for His people. It commences with a most interesting truth, the might or power of Christ to save.

Man is ruined by sin and requires a mighty Savior. He is so awfully ruined by sin, that the most striking figures are employed in the Word of God to represent it. Man in his natural unsaved state is represented as diseased, leprous, blind, naked, in beggary, a debtor, a prisoner, a captive, and as dead.

The sinner is insensible to his danger. He is asleep on the edge of the precipice of perdition; yet he feels not his danger. Paul says (Romans 3:10): "There is none righteous, no, not one; for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." Though all have sinned Christ is "mighty to save."

According to Scripture, we hold that Christ is verily God, "equal and co-eternal with the Father From everlasting to everlasting He is God." He became incarnate, that He might suffer, and bleed, and die, for "without shedding of blood is no remission." (Romans 9:22) "He was manifested to destroy the works of the devil." (I John 3:8) Christ's power to save as Mediator is founded on the efficacy of His atonement. (Romans 1:21).

What is necessary to realize His saving power? Sinful man must feel a deep conviction of ruin; and that he is ready to perish alone from Christ. There is no power to save except on the ground of the shed blood. Many of our professed orthodox people in these days deny the atoning blood and not one of them will get to heaven until they give up that soul destroying error.

Every man must take his place as sinner before God, cry to God for mercy, repent and renounce all self-dependence.

The persons narrowly escaped death when a heavy truck on the transcontinental highway about four miles west of Delaware early today overturned.

APPOINTMENT GOES TO MARTEL WOMAN

Mrs. Charles Trefz Rewarded for Five Years' Serice as Substitute Mail Carrier

...nce he started covering the route alone.

Capable Driver

In her daily journey for Uncle Sam's postal department Mrs. Trefz must drive over eight railroad crossings so that the element of danger is not lacking. In addition to being a conscientious and efficient mail carrier, however she is a capable and careful driver and has never met with an accident nor even a near accident.

One day last winter the snow was drifted to such depth that it was impossible to get out of Martel in the morning but in the afternoon Mrs. Trefz drove through to a place known as Five Points and from there worked through to the farthest point on her route.

On another day she shoveled snow to open path through the snowembanked road and was unable to get back to the office at Martel until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Her usual hour for returning is 12 o'clock noon.

"I'd rather go without my breakfast than miss snow shovel when I'm driving in the winter," Mrs. Trefz said when asked whether she carried tools for emergencies.

She has five and a half miles of mail roads to cover every day. Sometimes this slight rather nervous woman changes tires and repairs her Ford coupe with skill equal to that of a garage mechanic. When the roads are bad she covers on an average of 40 miles a day due to detours.

86 Houses on Route

Mrs. Trefz carries to 86 houses and 96 families. Sounds like faulty mathematics and it might be taken to indicate that some live on vacant lots but the figures are explained in the fact that sometimes young persons marry and live with the old folk.

Mrs. Trefz daily mail deliveries average about 400 pieces. During the holidays of course her allotment is a great deal heavier, but she proudly states that her machine in that season is often as heavily loaded when she comes in from her route as when she starts—with presents from residents on her route.

Marion county's woman mail carrier is diligent and conscientious about deliveries and generally cleans up the day's mail even if a trip back to the office is necessary. Catalogues are the bane of every mail carrier's life and are no small part in Mrs. Trefz work.

At 8 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Trefz is at the postoffice ready to sort and route mail and leaves at 9 o'clock. She dresses for the weather, heavy boots doing duty in the winter.

Work Suits Her

Mrs. Trefz answered with enthusiasm when asked if she likes her job.

"There is nothing I would rather do and I enjoy it thoroughly," she declared. "I've been much better health since starting on this work and don't know what I'd do without my route.

"Residents along the route are so highly pleased with Mrs. Trefz service that every one voluntarily signed a petition to the postal department at Washington requesting that she get the appointment.

"When the notice of examination for the position was published 10 applicants responded. Each one stipulated before taking the examination though that it it was possible for Mrs. Trefz to get the appointment she should have it.

"During her entire service the last five years Mrs. Trefz has never had a vacation and now she is looking forward to the 15 days' leave that mail carriers are given each year. And although she is not anticipating with pleasure a possible 30 days sick leave, which is also allowed carriers still it makes the outlook brighter for her to know that in the event she is ill for that period there will be no loss of pay or position.

"In addition to taking all the care of her invalid husband Mrs. Trefz keeps her six-room home in Martel spick and span.

Mrs. Trefz, who before her marriage was Miss Lulu Lesher, of Martel is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Emma Bondley Monroe of...

Snub-Bow Design for Speed.

The Berlin correspondent of a New York paper who refers to the design of the bows of the two great new liners the Bremen and the Europa as something new can hardly be said to be conversant with some of the comparatively recent additions to German's merchant marine

In describing the bow design of the two vessels he says that a cross cut of the bow of either vessel would show it to be pear shaped At the base of their bows these two ships bulge out laterally and have a snub nosed appearance when they are beheld coming head on This pear shaped surface reaches to the water line and is widest near the keel

If we are not very greatly mistaken this bow design was followed in the construction of the Albert Ballin which went into service three years ago and we believe it was followed also in the building of the new Deutschland which is of about the same tonnage And even at the time the design was followed in the building of the Ballin it could hardly have been held entirely new as it was then recognized as a modification although admittedly a radical one of an idea used some years before and may be put in French naval construction

At the time the Albert Ballin was put into service the understanding among shipping men was that the low design of the new vessel was intended to lessen her pitching in heavy seas the weight of the water on the bulge being held sufficient to steady the entire craft and help her propellers under water at all times thus keeping them from racing

But the correspondent in question did dig up something absolutely new, something that the German designers of the snub nosed bow have been keeping to themselves and that is that the new bow adds to the speed of a vessel Actual tests conducted by the German shipping people have demonstrated that the design followed in the new ships which by the way, are the longest afloat offers less resistance to the water than the knife edge bows in general use and thus gives higher speed than all other things being even then would be possible with the design in general use

It is the plan of the North German Lloyd company to put the Bremen and the Europa on a six day schedule between the German North sea ports and New York City and five days between the western Channel ports and New York If they are to maintain any such schedule they will need every possible advantage in addition to the high ratio of their lengths to their beams and the powerful engines with which they are equipped Certainly the North German Lloyd people are placing dependence on some such advantage as they have let it be understood that the two new vessels will be capable of making the run from Cherbourg to New York in well under five days,

Mutual Courtesy and Consideration.

A staff writer of a Chicago paper who is making a trial trip from Chicago to Little Rock, Ark., of those who are using Mississippi valley to Memphis, from there and from that point homeward by a railroad of his paper this week found the people of Little Rock the most polite of any met by him on his trip and he questions whether at any other point in the land their equals for courtesy and consideration can be found

In Little Rock it is possible to travel either afoot or by motor car without receiving either physical injury or verbal affront Every car stops at every street crossing in the business section and he found the hop pardons go frequent as to constitute almost a continuous flow At corners where signal lights are installed both pedestrians and motorists are courteous, all faithfully observing the signals Occupants of cars and pedestrians alike appear pleasant and happy in their endeavors to maintain harmony and good fellowship The smile is present and the frown is absent and boy lings out are conspicuous for their absence He didn't hear an unpleasant word in traffic during his stay in the city

Traffic officials told him, upon inquiry that their records show that vehicles move about as rapidly in Little Rock as in other cities where mutual courtesy by motorists and pedestrians is not manifested the time lost in crossing stops being made up between crossings where there is no danger of running people down as the people of Little Rock are not given to jay walking but make a practice of going to the nearest crossing when they wish to proceed across a street

If this showing of courtesy and consideration to each other by motorists and pedestrians will work alike for the pleasure and safety of traffic in Little Rock why can it not profitably be followed in every city in the land? Why should scowls if not harsh words so often prevail at street crossings when there may be smiles and expressions of courtesy? If the people of Little Rock can educate themselves to this end why can not the people of other cities? Why can not the people of Marion?

It is a fairly safe estimate that from ninety to ninety five per cent of the motorists will be found considerate of foot traffic and it is just as safe to estimate that a like percentage of pedestrians will be glad to reciprocate in courtesies It is the five per cent of each class —the reckless the willful and the ignorant— which causes the great majority of the accidents which occur Why can not the ninety five per cent of each class cooperate with the authorities to educate the poor unfortunates of both classes who are unobservant of the rights of others and ignorant of the decencies which go to make life worth living?

It would be a grand accomplishment and add to the span of human life not alone by obviating injury and possibly death to many but also by obviating the anger which traffic discourtesies and impositions so frequently engender, for there are few greater enemies of human life than anger whether it be manifested or our outward sign of it be suppressed

Jewelry lingerie and other personal belongings of Queen Wilhelmina to the value of $2 500 000 are being held up by customs officials in New York City, she having brought them in under the impression that she is a non resident as a result of her residence in Paris and would not have to pay duty If precedent is followed Queen's visit is liable to prove a luxury, as the duty on imported jewelry is eighty per cent and from sixty to seventy on wearing apparel

The secretary of the Detroit local of the Motion Picture Operators union was kidnaped from his office up there by eight men while his office force looked on Is Detroit aspiring to steal from Chicago the reputation which has made the latter famous—or infamous which ever the reader may prefer?

"It has worried me and I want to get it off my mind Harold Carvain told the San Francisco police in voluntarily confessing that he had murdered a St Louis policeman during the robbery of a bank there And doubtless he like many others starting out on a career of crime labored under the fool delusion that he didn't have a conscience

A New York banker, to save time in traveling to and from his summer home in Glen Cove has had constructed a special cabin hydroplane which showed a test speed of 51 8 miles an hour Think of having to travel at a speed like that to remain for two or three hours a day in conference

The world of today is a far better place to live in for the great mass of people says William M Hughes than the world which the critics of this generation eulogize He doubtedly true but Mr Hughes will not have any sharp revising the memories of those who love to dwell on the good old days

Another replica of the Mona Lisa has been discovered this particular one in Spain It's amazing how many replicas of pictures which the average man wouldn't drive 10 to hang up in a barn are dug up when the time and talent given to them might have been applied to the production of something beautiful

An Inca city into which no white man has ever set foot has been discovered upon a mountain top in Peru Possibly the world may soon learn of an ancient city which has not yet been despoiled

Hugh Elmer Brown says that the finest flowers wither in the gaslight of publicity but the retrogravure sections depicting society functions at summer resorts rather go to indicate that a lot of them must have been left wilted before the gaslight hit 'em

THE AUTUMN LEAVES ARE FALLING.

Fancied Illness Bad as Real.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

To imagine you are sick is next door to being sick So far as the immediate victim is concerned it is just as bad as being sick To the family and associates imaginary illness is worse than the real thing, because usually it is accompanied with greater mental complaints and demands

There is a disturbance called by the doctors neurasthenia or psychothenia The former word is from the Greek and means debility of the nerves the latter means debility of the mind

This ailment is an obstinate functional disturbance of the nervous system That is there is no destruction of tissue, no visible or measurable disease no actual change in the body or any of its parts But for one reason or another the body or its parts do not function, do not operate do not work as they should

We speak of the victim of this disagreeable condition as a neurasthenic The neurasthenic can't work, at least he can't work long at his usual mental or physical job He tires out almost at once, even though he may begin the day in good spirits and determined to apply himself

There are many many symptoms all included in this unhappy state The first is a tremendous exaggeration of himself If you know what I mean How he feels what leader solicitude should be given him what wealth of attention should be showered upon him—these are all he thinks about You must listen to his tale of woe or he is hurt to the verge of tears

The victim may suffer from one of the many phobias or fears—fear of a crowd fear of a high building, fear of an east wind fear of death fear of some particular disease fear of financial failure fear of something

He loses his will power He can not concentrate his thoughts He has headache backache, headache or some other ache He can't eat and can't sleep In short he is a total wreck

Of course one can not say this was without some substantial cause It may be that overwork or overworry some continued mental strain or sudden emotional shock may be responsible But more likely chronic malnutrition absorption of bodily poisons some hidden disease is at the bottom of the trouble

Every such patient should be carefully studied to see what is wrong If there is such an unhappy person in your household help the doctor by thorough study of the habits and symptoms

Eye strain with the needed correction of vision or muscle balance is a factor that must not be overlooked Habits of sex habits of eating and drinking habits of hygiene—all these are important

The simple life simple eating recreation entertainment are vital to all of us They are doubly significant in dealing with a neurasthenic Good sense and good living will help to avoid all ailments

Editorial Comment.

CYCLONIC STEAM LINES

Monstrous as has been the devastation by the recent hurricane humanity's record of self protection is by no means a bad one To radio goes a place of great honor or perhaps the greatest It was radio's service undoubtedly to keep ships so completely out of the danger zone that no important marine disaster has yet been reported Even on land it is probable that the broadcast warnings contributed materially to safeguarding both lives and property Unless the reports of the storm so far published are more exaggerated than is probable, this hurricane has been the most violent for years Three features of its behavior confirm this conclusion One is its long path for the storm seems to have moved with unabated energy over more than 4 000 miles of ocean and land Another feature is the relatively slow motion of the center of the whirl averaging, not much over 300 miles a day The third is the storm's enormous rainfall

This last holds the clew to the other two A theory of tropical hurricanes recently much discussed and apparently confirmed by the present storm is that of Dr Isaac M Cline of New Orleans The power of such storms comes Dr Cline believes from the condensation of water This water is evaporated from the ocean far in the storm's rear and drawn up into the storm by a wind that follows as it advances In much the same way in which the use of steam in an engine yields energy so the condensation of this water vapor in the cloud gives the same for the storm The greater the amount of water which reaches thus the larger will be the rainfall for boost by the storm and the vaster the energy of the whirling winds The average tropical hurricane ultimately passes from the ocean to the land and stretches the following moist wind that is its storm like until this breaks whereupon the hurricane dies of weakness and thirst The fate of the present storm was somewhat different An area of high pressure existed Tuesday morning over the Great Lakes Into this the hurricane could not advance but was deflected back toward the coast. Thus its meteoric steam pipe stood the strain some what longer than usual although stretched to such thinness that the storm grew notably weaker

The part of one these storms most interesting scientifically is one that few observers see the rent somewhere into which the steam pipe wind blows with its supply of water and energy The effort of the average mariner confronted with a hurricane is to get as far away as possible not to explore the back yard to inspect water supply It might be a useful adventure for some one with a yacht that he is willing to risk to haunt the South Atlantic at this time of the year sailing into the backs of all the hurricanes that come along to send weather instruments, send up test balloons and generally to spy upon the winds that theory calls the steam pipes of these storms —New York Herald Tribune

Javanese Women Beautiful

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

The Javanese women are renowned the world over for their beauty of form and feature Long sinuous bodies highforeheads and cheek bones almond shaped eyes well formed noses and lips are their characteristics And they enhance their attractions by the clever and distinctive clothes they wore

Although many of them like to adopt European customs including their costumes still there are a great number who cling religiously to the Javanese style The women who live far inland wear a short shirt like garment which slips on over the head Over this is a long colorful slip and a bright slendang or scarf draped over their shoulders while on their feet are sandals Many of the women however prefer to go barefoot Their hair, drawn up into an attractive knot is fastened with pins and flowers Many jewels including large earrings arm leg an ankle rings and necklaces are affected The other women wear a mixture of European and Javanese garments All however, are picturesque

They love flowers and make frequent use of the blooms to enhance the beauty of their costumes Many of the women keep their clothes scented with dried herbs A great number of Javanese women chew betel nuts and lime to dye their lips red and some of them dye their finger nails a deep red with the juice of plants This also is regarde as a charm against evil —Copyright, 1923 Newspaper Feature Service Inc

God and Electricity.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

What is electricity? Science pictures it as everything It is energy It is matter It is spirit It includes in its mobility of form every kind of being and of activity, that can be named

Therefore says a thoughtful friend who is by no means a heretical in sentiment, but anxious in inquiry, why is not electricity God?

Unquestionably the recent progress made in unveiling the structure of the atom, which leads us so deep into the heart of the material world that we seem to drop through the bottom into underlying immateriality, like a man falling through a dense cloud, is provocative of such doubtful states of mind We trace the molecules of matter down to their constituent atoms then we trace the composition of the atom down to its constituent electrons —and so on going further still, we are amazed to find the electrons and their controlling nuclei melting out of the region of matter into nothing else than charges of electricity Thus like the finely modeled thunder-head of a summer storm reflecting the sunbeams as if it were a solid snow clad peak the material world under the manipulation of scientific research glides mysteriously out of the range of the senses

Through the atom we seem to pass from matter into spirit The sensual world and the world of spirituality blend into one another by virtue of the electrical constitution of the universe The enigma of the universal ether, which though immaterial in its nature is supposed to convey material effects through radiations such as light and heat seems to some minds to be partially cleared up by these astonishing results of atomic investigation

But here we drift so far from the ordinary religious view of the relations of the material to the immaterial and of the nature of spirit as contrasted with matter or body, that it is no wonder that some earnest thinkers question the existence not only of an enduring spiritual personality in man but of God as a governing spiritual entity Such views of course are not novel nor even modern but modern science has encouraged them by opening new vistas for them and principally this most alluring one found hidden in the electrical constitution of the atom and therefore of all matter since matter is built up out of atoms

Against this there is only the argument which to many is equivalent to proof, that something in the depths of human nature teaches and assures us that no mere self action of a universal medium as electricity can have created the universe but that there is an intelligence a supervising and creative power superior to anything that science can analyze, which governs the universe and to which we are related by virtue of that spark of a like kind of spiritual intelligence which has been bestowed upon us This is the field of faith into which science does not enter Properly viewed scientific discoveries have no relation to anything beyond the world of the senses Scientific immateriality is not comparable with spirit in the religious meaning of the word The conception of a soul is not identifiable with that of an electric charge —Copyright, 1923 International Feature Service Inc

San Franciscan a Home Boy.

BY O O MCINTYRE

San Francisco, Sept 22—The San Franciscan is a home boy He never about his residence but regards the lamp shower The dark and gloomy is unknown Everybody has a patch of grass and a jera of flowers The appearance of poverty is an unknown quantity Even the humblest cottage is marked by flaming vines and sweet smelling shrubs

Due to a fairly even climate gardens and landscape plant me furnish the kaleidoscopic coloring of a Gypsy's skirt Homes in Berkeley and Belmonte are as fine as those on Long Island and they offer an architectural contrast to the Balboa setting come to life

Such structural conceptions are seen nowhere else in America save in California or perhaps on the movie screen There are miles with cool, winding palm lined roadways edged with terraced loneliness and exquisite cliff dwellings perched on dizzy cliffs with the blue of the Pacific sparkling below

In San Francisco and in Oakland across the bay are the same inviting, and velvety lawns basking in a dewy splendor as well as flowers to be bowered the garden fountains studded parterres, sweeps of hill side terraces and other creative efforts that distinguish a home loving city

In such atmosphere people naturally live more leisurely The galloping tempo of the eastern city is missing The successful merchant may breakfast in flannels with a fresh rose in his lapel on an umbrella shaded patio Japanese and Chinese servants stand about in white duck Like a music show

Speed and lack of time make New Yorkers a city of cigaret smokers—a few quick inhalations and they flip it away Out here men have time to luxuriate in the aroma of a big fat he cigar Luncheon is not a mad bolt and a frenetic rush back to the office

This easy manner fascinates a fidgety New Yorker He begins to pity Broadway and its ant like scurry People have a little time to the outdoors each day On the city's ocean front is an eight mile line of cliffs and beach They are never deserted Indeed the city seems always at play yet it does its work

Women are for the most part practical creatures Note that Commander Byrd could get a hundred times more men than he needed to go to the South pole with him Men are stimulated by the thought of hardship and adventure They come in droves to ask for the chance to go with an exploring party Not so with women Few ask to go They don't even write, asking for a place in the expedition

Women think it is a foolish stunt said Byrd before he left Women can't understand why they should leave warm radiators bath tubs comfortable homes

Women have always been more practical than men—less idealistic

A college president says the world problem a hundred years hence may concern itself with a race between babies and bread Increase in babies and increase in foodstuffs Will the bread play out and the babies starve? Will there be too many people to feed? The college president need not worry Science has already proved by study of the animal world that there will be no reproduction beyond the point where there is food enough to sustain life

Certain laws work whether man is interested in having them work or not There are certain laws that are absolute and dependable When the world gets so full there isn't food enough the birth rate will come down That's automatic It just does

Too bad we on earth can not have the benefit of an unprejudiced examination on the part of a competent committee from another planet We would like to be told whether much that passes for high civilization is civilization at all We would like to know whether we really can expect to find as much happiness living the crowded complex complicated lives we live as we could expect if we lived simpler lives—nearer the soil more like the barbarians used to live and in some parts of the world still does

Perhaps we are on the wrong track with our houses and lots and fast motors and telephones and railway trains Only a fair examination over a long period by a visiting delegation from another planet could really determine

Scenes as Florida Recovers From Hurricane's Terrific Blow

Picture at left is telephoto of West Palm Beach's main street. Clematis st., where buildings were completely demolished by the 160 mile gale which swept Florida and Georgia. What was formerly one of the most beautiful resorts in America, is now a scene of desolation and ruin. Picture at right was rushed to the Middle West over telephone wires, showing workers salvaging bodies of victims in wake of Miami hurricane victims at Pahokee, Fla. This is typical of the grim scenes to be found along the path of destruction on the flower lands across the state.

SLAYERS OF BOY SEND FLOWERS TO FUNERAL

Honolulu T. H., Sept. 22—With contemptuous bravado the slayers of 10-year-old Gill Jamieson today sent flowers to the funeral of the youth they kidnaped and murdered here several days ago.

A blank note accompanying the floral piece was signed "The Three Kings."

Rewards for the apprehension of the kidnaper slayers have mounted to more than $23,000.

Most of the outrageous sins are done to selfishness.

Just Things

STORES ON WHEELS

WHO remembers when the old huckster wagon drawn by its two sturdy steeds used to loom up on the horizon and what a big kick everybody used to get out of it when it came their time to peer into the deep recesses of the ample and span shelf lined fairyland? There was everything to be found from washtubs to mousetraps and Hoyts German cologne and the big mystery of it all was how they ever got so much packed into so small a space According to one William J Baxter who seems to be an authority, this and the next generation are going to see stores on wheels' It s bound to come Imagine having a luxuriously equipped motor store electrically refrigerated if you please bring the latest from Paris to your very stoop They might even go so far as to move in fleets something like traveling department stores with a soda grill for a caboose for surely after a morning s shopping the refreshment business ought to be good in most any neighborhood

POOR POLLY

IF you have any spare sympathy spend it on Gene Tunney s fiancee who is sailing the bounding main to her knight of the mitts She only has in her trunks 48 dinner and evening some four ensemble costumes beaver and mink coats gloves worth $400 lingerie costing $500 and shoes from Frank the theatrical bootmaker to match every costume Shades of St Catherine!

MODERN YOUTH

THIS may be a yes but to some of you but it was new to me The picture on the screen showed a poor old woman cast off by her hard hearted offspring, trudging wearily along the road The pathos of it brought tears to the eyes of the well-dressed woman who sat with her little boy in one of the front rows The boy heard his mother sob Don t worry ma he said comfortingly when I grow up to be a man I won t let you go to the poorhouse like that' Won t you dear she said what will you do?

I ll get you a taxi was his reply
